

WOMAN FLIER NEARING U.S.

REBELS SCORE NEW GAINS IN SPANISH WAR

Alice Longworth Says

(Special To The News)

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—The Des Moines conference may have proven a disappointment to those who looked for explosions. The president and the man who seeks the presidency met and preserved every amenity. Some of our critical international neighbors may have expected pistols for two, or at least strong language. After the meeting, the governor of Kansas told the reporters that he found the president charming. Mr. Roosevelt probably said as much for the governor to his close associates.

It is worth remarking that Governor Landon scrupulously refrained from taking advantage of an obvious opportunity to say "I told you so." He refused to discuss for the press the letter he wrote to the president in 1934, setting forth the plan of water impounding which the administration finally had to accept.

The new approach to the drought problem is the sensible one. Enough rain falls to obviate serious trouble. Now we are to go about saving some of that rainwater for the dry spells. An old idea in dry Kansas, and one that the nation is soon to adopt.

PA NEW OBSERVES

There are a lot of New Castle and Lawrence county folks who are hoping that the weatherman's forecast of rain for Labor Day is in error. Many local residents have planned auto trips for the last two week-end holiday period of the summer.

At Cascade Park on Sunday evening, the last of the union church services for this year will be held. With the start of the coming week the full schedule of services will be resumed in most of all the churches of the city and county.

With the greatly increased traffic that will be in evidence on the highways of this section over the week-end, all drivers should exercise more than usual safety precautions to aid in keeping down traffic casualties.

One of the most attractive spots in Lawrence County at the present time is the flower garden of the Hints and Dints Man, of The News, on Edison avenue. With the night lighting system, it is made even more attractive to hundreds of visitors who have already been through it. Over the week-end and Labor Day holiday, it will be visited by large crowds of interested spectators, as Mr. Rentz will be at home to welcome all who care to inspect the garden.

Spanish Rebels In New Victory On Iron Front

Beat Back Leftist Militiamen At Bridgehead Leading Into France

CITY OF IRUN IS ALMOST DESTROYED

Night-Long Series Of Explosions Takes Place In Captured Town

By LEE DICKSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HENDAYE, France, Sept. 5.—Conquering Spanish rebels scored another victory on the Iron front today, beating back Leftist militiamen who seized the bridgehead leading into France in a renewal of furious warfare.

With the captured city of Irun almost completely destroyed after a night-long series of explosions there, and with rebel forces occupying strategic positions throughout the town, the insurgents carried the bridgehead at noon in a headlong rush that climaxed six hours fighting.

Rebel reinforcements from Pamplona arrived on the Iron front and insurgent tanks, artillery and large numbers of infantrymen moved up between Behobia and Irun.

The insurgents were preparing for a decisive attack to drive out all remaining Loyalists still holding out in scattered posts in the city. It was reported 300 additional government troops from San Sebastian have taken up positions around Irun, and sharp fighting is expected.

Minneapolis Again Feels Effect Of Strike

(International News Service)
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 5.—More than 15,000 striking workmen idled in Minneapolis and Hennepin county today.

Business leaders frankly admitted their fears of a repetition of the bloody strike riots of 1933 when a half-dozen persons were killed and hundreds injured before martial law was established, as the situation grew more tense hourly.

The city's great milling industry is at a standstill, work on all WPA projects has ceased, but one grain elevator is operating, and but few deliveries of wholesale grocery supplies are being made.

The Washburn Crosby mill, the last big flour mill operating, ceased grinding at the close of business yesterday after 1000 pickets besieged the plant, preventing employees from reporting for work. Two smaller mills also announced they would shut down.

Officials of the worker's alliance, sponsoring the WPA "holiday" announced 6000 workers have joined the walkout called to protest the delay of the works progress administration in granting demands for pay increases and a minimum 30-hour week.

The WPA four-day "holiday" will end Tuesday night when a mass-meeting will be held, officials said, to consider a city and county-wide strike if demands have not been met.

Members of the general drivers' union remained on strike, paralyzing delivery and trucking service from the wholesale district. They and members of the flour, feed cereal and elevator workers' union are demanding union recognition.

Injuries Fatal To Miss Maple

Governor Landon Returns To Desk

Back In Topeka Following His Conference At Des Moines, Iowa

BELIEVES DROUGHT HAS BEEN ENDED

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

TOPEKA, Kansas, Sept. 5.—Believing fresh rains have broken the drought in most parts of Kansas, Governor Alfred M. Landon returned to his state house desk today to spur officials in aiding farmers to replenish their heat-shrunken cattle feed supplies.

As he informed President Roosevelt in their historic Des Moines conference, the Kansas supply of cattle feed is but twenty per cent of normal due to the drought. As a result, thousands of farmers in the sun-scorched areas must purchase feed supplies or sell their cattle.

This feed shortage was impressed upon the governor in his brief tour of drought areas in northeastern Kansas. At the Kansas Orphan's Home near Atchinson, he learned even the state is being forced to purchase fodder for a herd of cattle kept to supply the children with milk and butter. The governor maintained his record as a "rain-maker" on his trip back from Des Moines. A heavy rain greeted him in St. Joseph, Mo., and another storm overtook him at Atchinson. At one point near Meriden, Kan., it appeared the governor might unite (Continued On Page Two)

Roosevelt Will Tour T. V. A. Region

"Non-Political" Tour To Be Made In South In Coming Week

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—President Roosevelt, returning to Washington for the Labor Day week-end, will start out again almost immediately next week on another of his flying tours, this time headed into the TVA region of Tennessee and the great Smoky Mountain National Park.

As was the case with his drought area exploration which winds up today in Indianapolis, the swing into Tennessee and North Carolina is billed as "non-political"—although it will terminate Thursday, at Charlotte, N. C., with the president speaking at a "home-coming rally" in which all of the southeastern states are expected to participate.

A tentative itinerary calls for Mr. Roosevelt, after remaining in Washington Sunday and Labor Day, to leave Washington Tuesday night by special train for Knoxville.

President Near End Of His Long Inspection Trip

Heading East Through Indiana After "Non-Political" Mid-West Tour

LEAVES PLEDGES IN PLAINS STATES

Says Nation Will Aid All Those Hit By Drought Area Conditions

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

EN ROUTE EAST WITH PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, Sept. 5.—On the last lap of a journey that has taken him 4,500 miles through a dozen states, President Roosevelt crossed into Indiana today to conclude a series of conferences unique in the midst of a political campaign.

The politically important, and doubtful states of Indiana, Ohio and Michigan, besides ordinarily Democratic Kentucky, were included in today's listing. All have been touched by the unprecedented drought of this year, although but lightly as compared with states further west.

Three Pledges
Mr. Roosevelt left the heat-ridden Mississippi valley and the parched plains of the West with three distinct commitments or pledges:

- (1) To treat agriculture as a broad national problem, the southern court's assertion that agriculture is essentially a local matter to the contrary notwithstanding.
- (2) To see the drought sufferers of the plains and prairie states through the winter by the application of federal aid.
- (3) To pursue a program of long range planning, through which the effects of such natural calamities as the droughts of 1934 and 1936.

Time and again during his nearly two weeks on the road, in public speeches from the rear platform of his train and in conferences with state governors, the President has emphasized the national character of agriculture—not the local character of the drought.

Chambers Funeral Monday Afternoon

Body Of Philip Chambers Is Recovered At Lake Chautauqua Early Today

Word was received here early today from Chautauqua, that the body of Philip Chambers, son of Judge and Mrs. James A. Chambers, of this city, who was drowned when he fell from a sailboat in Lake Chautauqua, last Monday afternoon, had been recovered.

The body was found on the surface of the lake, about 3 o'clock this morning. According to information received here, James Gardner, of Lakewood, attendant at a boat dock on Lake Chautauqua, and Francis Foster, of Mayville, recovered the body some distance from the point where Chambers was believed to have fallen into the water last Monday afternoon.

While the rest of the searchers had given up their efforts, Gardner and Foster were not content that the body could not be found and persisted in their efforts all last evening and until the hour this morning at which their convictions were rewarded.

They had been circling about in the vicinity of Point Chautauqua, across the lake from this summer colony, for several hours and had about decided to quit for the night, when Gardner urged that another circle about the Point be made. He had said he thought he saw something in the weeds near shore. As the boat circled, Gardner sighted the body. It was just coming to the surface.

They brought the body to shore and called state troopers who notified Coroner William B. Crandall of Westfield.

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, N. S., Sept. 5.—Mrs. Beryl Markham was reported to have cracked up her plane in a forced landing at Baleine, a remote settlement ten miles from Louisburg, N. S., this afternoon.

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—Apparently disposing of recurring reports that Mrs. Beryl Markham, English aviatrix, had made a forced landing at either St. Johns, N. F., or St. John, N. B., the dispatcher's office of the Western Union Telegraph Company today said that inquiries to both points brought word that the reports were unfounded.

This statement from the dispatcher's office came coincidentally with reports from St. John, N. B., that Mrs. Markham's plane had been reported sighted over Anacostia Island, 300 miles to the northward.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Sept. 5.—Sped on her way by favorable winds, Mrs. Beryl Markham was reported over Anacostia Island, 315 miles north of here, at 12:15 p. m., E. D. T., today.

One more holiday to go and the summer will bid adieu, not by the calendar of course, but Labor Day marks the end of things so far as the holidays go, and it marks the start of the cooler times that end with a heap of snow. So enjoy the day to the very full, for autumn's not far away, when coal bills threaten, your peace of mind, its seventy-nine today.

Eastern Pennsylvania Campaign Being Opened This Afternoon

KNOX TO SPEAK ABOUT 4 O'CLOCK

(International News Service)
ALLENTOWN, Pa., Sept. 5.—The political spotlight was focused on this gayly decorated city today as thousands of Republicans prepared to open the eastern Pennsylvania presidential campaign at an open air rally to be addressed by Col. Frank Knox, GOP nominee for vice president.

Historic Lehigh valley, traditional starting point of presidential election campaigns in the eastern section of the state, was prepared to welcome Col. and Mrs. Knox upon their arrival at the Lehigh Valley railroad station.

Immediately after receiving the greetings of a reception committee, the Chicago publisher and members of his party will be escorted to the Allentown fair grounds.

Expect 20,000.
Favored by ideal weather—a clear blue sky and a bright sun—the rally is expected to attract a crowd of more than 20,000 although it is competing against the Labor Day exodus to mountain retreats and shore resorts.

The vice presidential candidate will make his address, which will be carried over a radio hookup, from a flag-adorned pavilion on the race track at 4 p. m., one hour and 15 minutes after the meeting opens.

Mrs. Edna Carroll, vice-chairman of the Philadelphia city committee, will introduce State Sen. G. Mason Owlett, national committeeman of Wellsboro, Tioga county, the first speaker of the day. Senator Owlett will be followed by M. Harvey Taylor, Republican state chairman, who is to introduce Col. Knox.

acter assigned to it by the supreme court.

Supreme Court Angle
Mr. Roosevelt has not mentioned the supreme court once by name, but there has been no mistaking his emphatic dissent from the court's philosophy that agricultural production is a local business and thus outside the purview of federal treatment.

"The point which I think we all ought to realize is that this is a national picture," he told the cattle-men of Wyoming.

"We have what has been called an integrated economy," he told the grain growers of Illinois, "an economy that ties in every part of the nation. The country is becoming conscious of this. The country is becoming nationalistic in the best sense of the word, and not in the exclusive sense of the word."

"We are all a part of one big whole and we have got to stick together."

To the drought-stricken states he left this pledge:
"There will be all through this winter a good many thousands of farmers, who, through no fault of their own, will have to have some kind of help. For these people the government, federal and state, proposes to see them through."

"Non-Political"
Mr. Roosevelt insisted at the outset of his trip that it was not a political journey, and not in the interests of his own campaign for re-election. That campaign, he said, would not start until late this month or early October.

In the main, the commitment of "no holidays" has been carried out, although the Republicans along the way have complained, sometimes with caustic envy, that Mr. Roosevelt has played the shrewd and most subtle kind of politics by appearing in his official non-partisan capacity with a promise of succor to the needy and help for the afflicted.

At no time during the nearly two weeks, confronting countless thousands, in audiences scattered from Ohio to the Rockies, has the President appealed for votes or mentioned the Republican party. But he found numerous occasions to suggest subtly that "things don't look as bad here as they did several years ago—or I'm glad to note things look better than when I was last here four years ago." Such remarks seldom failed to get a big hand.

ELECTRIC POWER RATES REVISED

rates for domestic service," the commission announced.

Affecting gradually all customers in these categories, the schedule will result in an estimated $4,090 saving annually to commercial and small power users, while the annual savings to industrial power consumers will be an estimated $13,410.

Residential and agricultural service will enjoy a saving of $1,700 annually, according to present computations.

Effecting annual savings of $32,200, the schedule in the top step calls for a reduction from six cents to five cents and all over 180 hours use from two cents to one and one-half cents for commercial use.

The first two steps in the agricultural service, according to the commission, will see a reduction of one cent per kw. while provision was made for a new low one and one-half cent step for all use in excess of the first four blocks.

Eliminate Requirement.
The commission also announced that the requirement of not less than $2.30 per month for consumers who require individual transformers or line extensions was eliminated.

The schedule called for modification of the secondary power service rate by changing rates for the several blocks from 5.5 cents, 4.5 cents and three cents to five, three and one and one-half cents respectively. This will result in an estimated saving of $8,890, the commission said.

The four highest demands, instead of a single maximum demand, will determine bill in the industrial power service classification, according to the commission, which pointed out that the residential service rate will offer a maximum base bill of $8 with direct reference to objective rates if customers have electric ranges or refrigerators. This objective rate, it was provided, is to be made available to customers not later than April 1, 1938.

L. B. Round, vice president and general manager of the Pennsylvania Power company, said:
"The rate reduction filed follows a series of informal conferences with the commission and is in line with the program of the company to reduce and simplify its rate structure whenever conditions permit. It will effect a reduction to practically all retail commercial and secondary power customers, and like the residential rate reduction made last year will permit greater use of electric service as a result of greater efficiency of operation."

GOVERNOR LONDON RETURNS TO DESK

his drought inspection trip with one reviewing flood damages, when a cloudburst struck his cavalcade of motor cars. The rain was so heavy it inundated the road with a foot of water in the lowlands.

To Spend Quiet Week-End
The governor was waiting anxiously for a reply from western railroads to his plea for a slash in joint freight rates upon movement of cattle out of drought sections into fertile pastures. He also appealed for lower rates on grains and concentrates, shipped into sun-baked areas for feeding purposes.

After clearing his desk the governor will spend a quiet week-end on a farm near Kansas City. He will leave there Sunday night for Wichita, Kan., to attend the annual state convention of the Kansas American Legion. He is a member of the Legion and has met with his World War buddies annually.

The governor had pleasant recollections of a brief visit with Ed Howe, the "Sage of Potato Hill" at Atchison. The 83-year-old philosopher, told Landon:
"You are going so good now, I have no suggestions to offer in your campaign. There's not the slightest doubt about it. I am perfectly satisfied you will win the presidency."

When Landon invited him to "visit me in Topeka," Howe retorted: "Yes, I'll come over to Topeka and I'll come to visit you at the White House, too."

Kansas To Benefit
Chicago, Sept. 5.—Within a few days drought-stricken Kansas farmers will begin to benefit from lower freight rates on cattle shipments from drought areas to fertile pastures, and on shipments of cattle feed to succor animals grazing on parched pastures.

Governor Alfred M. Landon's plea for a reduction in joint freight rates to aid the drought-stricken Kansas farmers was granted at a meeting of the Western Association of Railway Executives here yesterday.

Under the Kansas governor's plan, as adopted by the railway executives, the benefits of the reduced freight rates will be passed directly to the farmers, and not to dealers or profiteers. It was because of this the request was approved by the railroadmen for the committee declared today.

Under the presidential nominee's plan, a drought relief committee will pass on every shipment of cattle or feedstuffs made under the reduced rates, and with members of the committee empowered to see that no one not entitled to them will receive the benefits of the reduced rates.

The rate reductions provide that farmers moving cattle from drought areas to greener pastures will pay 85 per cent of the full freight rate. But they will pay only 15 per cent of the full rate for the movement back to their farms, making the total reduction 50 per cent. If the cattle are shipped directly to market from the fertile pastures instead of back to the point of origin, the 85 per cent payment on the original shipment may be applied against the through rate from the original shipping point.

LABOR DAY

WHEN the first Labor Day observance was held in 1882, the fundamental reason for starting the movement was to agitate for the rights of labor. At that time, abuses in the labor field were very great.

In those days wage-earners usually worked 10 to 12 hours a day, sometimes more. There were few laws restricting the labor of women and children, or requiring safe and healthful conditions in factories and shops. The man power of the nation was being weakened by excessive strain.

Since that day the most serious of these abuses have been removed. The wage-earners' day is relatively short and generally reasonable. Many of them would like to work longer than they do. Restrictive laws have been enacted in most states protecting women and children. Perhaps these laws should go further, but anyway there has been a great gain.

MEXICO IS HONEST

In the matter of the sale of munitions to combatants in Spain, the world knows exactly where the government of Mexico stands. The two governments, President Gardenas explains, are friendly terms. When the Loyalists of Madrid requested the sale of war material, the government of Mexico immediately shipped rifles and cartridges. Mexico regarded the situation as one offering important commercial opportunities and took full advantage of it as such.

At a time when there is so much sentiment in the world for an attitude of strict neutrality with respect to the Spanish conflict in order that the danger of conflagration may be minimized, and so many professions of aloofness by neighboring nations, President Gardenas speaks with rather startling frankness. Mexico does not even pretend to be neutral.

The significance of his declaration that "this act has international justification" is by no means obscure. Though France, Italy, Germany and Russia have officially adopted a hands-off policy, it is quite well known that Italy and Germany are aiding the rebels with airplanes and armaments, and even with fliers, and that Russia and France are helping the Loyalists with money and in other ways.

Mexico is at least honest in the matter. Hard-pressed economically, she has seized the chance to promote her foreign trade. Opportunity knocks at the door infrequently, at best.

SQUEEZING DR. TUGWELL

The Roosevelt administration has been congratulating itself that, when this summer's drought situation became serious, the money and machinery were at hand to undertake immediate relief measures. The money is in the form of $85,500,000 appropriated by congress—which the president can increase to $98,500,000. The machinery is Dr. Tugwell's Resettlement Administration.

That is all very well for the president and for the drought-stricken farmers. But what about the vast schemes, the large number of projects in resettlement and rehabilitation, under Dr. Tugwell's charge? Seventy million dollars of the money allocated for these purposes will help to ease the drought emergency, but $70,000,000 will make quite a hole in Dr. Tugwell's hopes.

Of this amount, $40,000,000 will be saved by the simple method of not making that amount of rehabilitation loans. The other $30,000,000 will involve the complete abandonment of thirty-one approved resettlement projects and leaving fifty-one others half finished. It is said that even the Tugwellian bureaucracy is being cut down, that 1,500 bright young persons have been dismissed during the last two or three months and that more are to follow.

There would be many a dry eye, no doubt, if the drought should cause the abandonment of most of all that Dr. Tugwell is doing, including Dr. Tugwell himself.

A noted clergyman says hard times improved us morally, and insurance actuaries say we were beneficial physically. Now if it could be proved that they've helped us financially we'd give them our approval.

Mussolini's age is never alluded to in the Fascist press, as he has ordered that he is never to become old. Won't he be surprised when he discovers, in a few short years, that Time is a better marksman than his countrymen!

Perhaps the photographer who snapped Eleanor Holm Jarrett on the steps of a Pullman with the Watch Your Step sign looming in the background is the same individual who, it is alleged, toted a steer skull over the plains states for Tugwell, taking those "All Is Lost" drought portraits.

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)
HOLLYWOOD—Veteran John J. Poulson expresses surprise at the ability of young American actors:

"They are not only blest with the vivacity of youth, but seem to be born with the intuitive wisdom of veterans."

APPLETON, Wis.—Roger W. Strauss, New York engineer, makes a plea for religious tolerance:

"Each individual must be permitted to work out for himself that most personal of all relations, man's relation to the universe."

LOS ANGELES—Conductor Jose Turbi tells why he delayed a recent concert in Cleveland while the audience was quieted:

"You can't make music when every bar is accented by the crunch of peanut shells."

NEW YORK—Oswald Knauth, business man, comments on the European situation:

"There will be no war in Europe. Business is just beginning to get good over there."

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

NOT EXACT JUSTICE

The judge was hearing the case of a man charged with disturbing the peace of the neighborhood with saxophone playing.

"I'd like to hear the prisoner play so I can tell whether there was a disturbance," said the judge.

The man complied.

"Not guilty," said the judge in a surprisingly brief time, as he waved the player to stop.

"But that fellow is a darned nuisance," complained the prosecuting attorney. "You know that man is lousy playing."

"Sure I do," said the judge. "But I couldn't very well shut him up and convict him. I had to get that playing stopped, the quickest way I think I took it."

Hints On Etiquette

When a couple becomes engaged, it is the duty of the man's family to arrange immediately to call on the prospective bride and her family.

Apple Sauce For Paris.

No Rush To Aid U. S.

Eyes Made To Look.

Relief A Century Ago.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

THEY DO not serve apple sauce with roast duck in Paris, and American children complain, but, if you will pardon the "unpardonable" slang, Paris is not entirely devoid of "apple sauce."

For instance you may read a very fine plaque commemorative. On this pretty plaque, which was put up by the Franco-American committee, on July 4, 1924, you may read the statement of four American ambassadors.

Ambassador Bacon said in August, 1914, "France is at war, I rush" meaning presumably, I rush to her assistance. He said it in French in this way: La France se bat, j'accours.

Ambassador Herrick wrote, in 1914, "Paris belongs to the world. Paris appartient au monde."

By 1917 we were "all wound up," in connection with the big foolishness of going into a war with which we had nothing to do, and Ambassador Sharpe, had this to say: "France personifies to the highest point, for the other peoples, everything that is inspiration." La France personnifie au plus haut point pour les autres peuples tout ce qui est inspiration.

Finally, in 1920, when it was over, and we were out of it, and should have been content to keep quiet and figure up our losses, personal and financial, Ambassador Wallace, said, from the bottom of his deep heart, "Civilization itself was saved at the Marne by the French army singing the Marseillaise." La civilisation meme a etc sauvee sur La Marne par l'armee Francaise chantant la Marseillaise.

Those things were said, all in deep sincerity, doubtless, by men that never sat in the trenches. They did not help to any great extent the American conscripted, sometimes against his will, crawling over the edge of a trench to get his first smell of war gas, or the little American business man of today, trying to pay for the tens of billions squandered in war, including ten billions of bad debts scattered over many European countries, while at the same time he tries to pay for all the new ideas that are born every few minutes.

Can you imagine anybody in France, England or Germany, paraphrasing Ambassador Bacon's statement to read: "America is at war, I rush?"

There would be very little "rushing" to our assistance from Europe (Continued On Page Five)

EVER SPANK A CHILD.

Question—Are you married?
Answer—Yes.
Q—Got any children?
A—Sure.
Q—How do you get along with them?

Fine. I mean sometimes I get along with them and sometimes I don't. Sometimes I'm difficult, sometimes they're difficult, and at such times we have our troubles. They aren't impudent often, I'm unfair only occasionally. I think they love me. And I don't think the gap between me, grown up, and them, children, is very wide.

Q—I see. Just an average parent. How about discipline?

A—Well, there's a good deal of argument, but I'd say that in the long run the family discipline is pretty good.

Q—Have you ever spanked them?

A—Certainly I have.

Q—I thought you used to have very strong convictions on that subject.

A—Well, I did, but that was before I had any children that ever needed spanking.

Q—You do think, then, that a child sometimes needs a spanking?

A—I've come to that opinion. Even the children themselves agree as to that, and I don't think it's because their parents put the idea into their little heads.

Q—But it's brutal and unfair for a grown-up, just because he's bigger and can do it, to use his strength in anger on a child.

A—Well, I'll admit it's easier to spank a youngster in anger than in perfect calm, but I don't think it's exactly brutal.

Q—What's your exact theory about spanking, then?

A—Well, there are times when a youngster is cranky, disobedient, impudent, unreasonable and altogether objectionable. He knows he is and he doesn't care. He hates everything and you can't do anything with him. He won't do this and he won't do that, and he whines and he fusses and he sticks out his little chin and slaps the baby and kicks the dog.

Q—But I should think you could appeal in some way to his better instincts, divert his attention, snap him out of it in some way.

A—You're right. But that also means giving all your attention and some times that's just what he wants. . . . So there are times like that when all a parent can do is pick up that small disturber and give him two or three smart whacks on his bottom to straighten him out.

Q—Does it work?

A—Most parents think so and I've seen it accomplish miracles in converting a fussy little imp into a sweet little boy for the rest of the day.

Conclusion—Well, maybe so, maybe so. But I still insist there ought to be some other way.

TODAY'S STORYETTE

Brown smothered his wrath and entered the front room.

"Are you the electrician?" he asked of the man who was tinkering with a lot of wire.

"Yes, sir," was the reply.

"Been long in the trade?"

"About a year."

"Ever make any mistakes?"

"Bless, you, no."

"Oh, then I suppose it is all right but the electric stove is playing 'Mammy,' and the radio is burning up!"

Just remaining neutral don't seem to count in politics. Keeping still seems to be about as bad as talking too much.

WEAR MAKE-UP AT WORK

When the average housewife starts in to do her housework she forgets all about her power, rouge and other make up. Her mind is on the work and the task of getting the cleaning, dusting, washing, baking, etc., finished and not on her beauty.

But according to beauty experts that's where she does wrong. She should look to her beauty first and then her work. In other words, the beauty experts advise wearing make up while going the housework. They claim it protects the complexion and skin from dirt and dust. Pointing out that grit from the dust cloth and broom irritates the skin and mars its beauty, they claim many women spoil their complexions by working without make-up on.

More people are being put into jail now than ever before because of their violating the automobile laws. That kind of stuff sets an example something like cutting the heads off the bad boys in some foreign countries. The firing squad also gets in effective work at times.

EVERY DAY A SABBATH

Just which day shall be designated as the Sabbath depends on the nationality and religion of the people observing it and it is interesting to note that each day of our week is regarded as the Sabbath somewhere in the world. Monday is the Greek Sabbath, Tuesday, the Russian, Wednesday the Assyrian, Thursday, the Egyptian, Friday, the Turkish, Saturday the Hebrew and Sunday is the Christian Sabbath.

Boarder—By the way, landlady, did you find a $5 bill on the floor in my room this morning?

Landlady—Yes. Thank you very much I have credited it on your account.

Today's Yesterdays—Sept. 5, 1585—Armand Jean Duplessis, was born. A soldier in his youth, he gave up a career with the sword to keep in the family a bishopric in which he was consecrated at 22. The World At A Glance

Advertising Drouth Irks Some.
Land Owners Are Irritated.
Say Photographs Were Faked.

Central Press
Washington Bureau
662 Times-Herald Bldg.

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—It is beginning to appear that the Washington administration's advertising of drouth condition on the Great Plains has not made an unqualified success.

A farm owner's objection to having his land publicized as lying in the midst of a vast desert is understandable.

He may want to sell it some time and to have had it officially described as not worth having, except for a few skinny cattle to graze on, is not calculated to add to the price he would like to get for it.

COMPLAINTS

For example, it is noteworthy that complaints of exaggeration in the government's photographs, taken in the drouth region, come from sources in the very center of that co-called region.

The Forum, published at Fargo, N. D., which certainly may be regarded as well inside the supposedly afflicted area, started the outcry that Resettlement and other federal administrations have been photographically faking. Now the clamor is being joined in by other spokesmen in the same region.

In short, numerous Great Plainsmen are hopping mad at the fashion in which their country has been represented.

INCREASE IN TENANCY

There has been an unfortunate increase in farm tenancy in recent years in the northwest.

When I grew up, in the northwest, in corner of Iowa, the north-east corner of Nebraska and the southeastern corner of what then was Dakota Territory, a farmer was the owner of a farm.

During the last milk strike, after a lapse of 35 or 40 years, I visited the same neighborhood.

What a change!

I found most of the landowners mostly small city folk; most of the farmers, tenants.

Most of the original farmers had sold out at wartime figures, or encumbered their acres on a ridiculous wartime basis, subsequently losing them under foreclosure or for taxes, holdings thus being consolidated.

It is not so bad as in the south, but it has been gravitating in that direction.

WHAT POLITICAL TREND?

Consequently it is difficult to estimate the northwest's political trend.

If the United States were at war, unless it might possibly be to help our interesting aggressor, and as for lending us ten billions of dollars, in such a war, our European friends would find it not convenient or possible to lend us ten hundred six-pences.

When Americans become sentimental and go crazy, they go really crazy.

THE MOOSE RIVER gold mine where three men were imprisoned ten days reminds us all, young and old, to learn to use our eyes. In 1866 a lumberman blasting rock, to widen a stream, noticed yellow flakes in the rock, and because he saw what he looked at, gold has been taken out of the Moose River mine for more than fifty years.

You do not find things, unless you look for them and you must know how to LOOK.

THE LATE Senator George Hearst, who located some of the most important mines in the world, was asked by young Harvard college men, anxious to find a gold mine:

"How can we tell if we find gold?"

"If you think it is gold," replied Senator Hearst, "you will probably be mistaken, it will be pyrites. If it is gold, you will know it."

In 1847, almost one hundred years ago, when times were bad in New York City, the poor were fed where absolutely necessary.

In 1847, the hungry were supplied with "Indian meal, hominy, beans, peas, salt pork and dried fish." Those that were sick might have bread, meat, sugar and fresh animal food in addition.

For Indian meal, beans, salt pork and dried fish, those in need of relief would not thank you.

ORDERS POLICE TO GO HOME AND SLEEP

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA—Wives of police inspectors and captains won't be "lonely" at night anymore.

Mayor S. Davis Wilson has seen to that by issuing an order to all inspectors and captains to sleep at home—at least from midnight on.

For the past twenty years these men have spent their nights in the station houses in compliance with an old rule requiring them to be there subject to instant call. A score of touching letters from "lonely" wives caused Mayor Wilson to abolish the rule and to order the captains and inspectors to sleep at home.

INSISTS ON ARREST, OBLIDGED, PAYS $20

(International News Service)
KLAMATH FALLS, Ore.—Playing chief of police proved expensive for Clair Carroll.

Carroll slipped into the chief's office here during the official's absence. He picked up the chief's telephone and called the desk sergeant down the hall, saying he wanted to be arrested and was in a pool room.

Officers were unable to locate Carroll, so he called again, using another address. He insisted that police arrest him.

When he called a third time, the desk sergeant had Carroll's call traced. He was just lifting the telephone to call again when police entered and obliged his oft-repeated request. It cost Carroll $20.

Costs Stricken Off In Crawford Case

District Attorney Mont L. Alley presented a petition to Judge W. Walter Braham at court today to strike off the costs assessed against Mrs. Mary Crawford, in an assault and battery case in which she was the plaintiff against Garfield Lowe.

The jury trying the case found the defendant not guilty, but divided the costs equally between the plaintiff and defendant. The petition states that Mrs. Crawford is unable to pay, and further that she had brought the information in good faith upon the advice of the chief of police, and the jury was not warranted in placing one-half the costs on her. Judge Braham granted the petition.

Aged Workman Is Given Honor

The unusual distinction of possibly being the oldest man in Lawrence county still actively engaged in work is held by Charles Porath.

Sr. On September 3 he celebrated his 84th birthday.
Another unusual fact concerns the type of work in which Mr. Porath is engaged. As a pattern maker at Johnson Bronze he constantly deals in micro-metric dimensions and all his work must be exact to within thousandths of an inch.
Mr. Porath originally worked for the American Car and Ship Hardware company, which concern later became the Johnson Bronze company. His employment has been constant.
On the occasion of his recent birthday the employees of the pattern shop presented Mr. Porath with a suitable gift.

Margiotti Makes Important Ruling

Tax Anticipation Notes Are Declared Legal Trust Fund Investment

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Sept. 5.—Authorized at the recent extraordinary legislative session, the $45,000,000 worth of tax anticipation notes issued to help carry the state relief burden are legal investments for Pennsylvania's trust funds, Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti had ruled today.
In an opinion handed down at the request of Dr. Luther A. Harr, secretary of banking, Margiotti explained that the tax anticipation note act "pledges the new current revenues of the biennium ending May 31, 1937, for the payment of principal and interest of the notes, that the loans shall be paid out of the new revenue raised by laws enacted at the special session, and that the notes are also secured by current revenues of every kind accruing to the general fund, except those required for the payment of a previous series of tax anticipation note."

PRESIDENT ORDERS MERIT SYSTEM BE ADOPTED BY HOLC

Further extension of the merit system to the personnel of the Home Owners' Loan Corporation is under way as a result of recent orders from the president of the HOLC and the U. S. Civil Service Commission.
This move is in the interest of greater economy and efficiency in the program of HOLC in liquidating its million loans, an operation now being carried out by its 15,500 employees and offices in all parts of the country. It means the ultimate adoption of civil service standards of efficiency throughout the corporation, and anticipates the possibility of future action by congress to place the organization under civil service.

Dear Brother Lion:
September 5.

The program for Tuesday will be an arrangement by Bill Fenton, which, up to now, he has not made known to us. We know it will be something fine, however.
Jack McNeill, away on vacation, has promised us he will not be present so if any of you boys have been trying to get by him this will be your opportunity.
In the event you are going to be on the highways this week-end, remember to observe the rules of the road and thus avoid accidents.
The password will be "Loyalist."
Very truly yours,
THOMAS I. ELLIOTT,
Secretary.

Workers Join In Protest Strike

About 500 At New Kensington Aluminum Plant In Action

(International News Service)
NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., Sept. 5.—Nearly five hundred workers at the Seal plant of the American Aluminum company were on strike here today following a brief "sit down" over the suspension of a girl employee.
The walkout was called when Plant Superintendent John Sharp laid the girl off until next Tuesday for an alleged violation of the plant rule prohibiting the solicitation of union membership during working hours.
While strikers announced they would stay out until the girl returns to work, the New Kensington local of the Aluminum Workers of America, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, said it would seek an international charter from the A. F. of L.
Such a charter, they pointed out, would bring them under complete autonomy of the American Federation of Labor.

Eighteen Hundred Meals Are Served Each Month At City Rescue Mission

A meeting of the board of directors of the City Rescue Mission took place Friday night in the mission hall. The reports showed that 1800 meals were being served from the mission kitchen each month and that of this number approximately 200 were served to transients. Many of these transients are sent for free meals to the mission by the city police station and the Salvation Army, which have no facilities for such work. The free baths given per month number 120 and the free beds 115. Within two months the mission fitted out with furniture four families whose homes had been burned.
The board decided to discontinue its second-hand store and to maintain a room from which goods may be provided gratis to needy and worthy families after each case has been carefully investigated. An enlarged program of social service and evangelism is planned for the fall and winter. Since the Community Chest has ceased to function the mission has become financially embarrassed. To relieve this situation until the chest again begins to operate, the board decided to seek financial aid from the churches and from citizens who believe in the type of work which this agency is doing. The board is convinced that a greater responsibility than ever before rests upon the mission since there is no other agency in New Castle which is doing the kind of work it is doing for those who are "down and out".

Twelve Passengers On Trolley At Pittsburgh Get "Wild Nightmare Ride"

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 5.—Allegedly the motorman who took 12 frightened trolley passengers on a wild "nightmare ride", H. M. Linn was held for traffic court today and charged with driving while under the influence of liquor.
The trolley's mad dash carried through three stop lights at high speed, and the careening car barely missed five workmen repairing tracks when it failed to heed "go slow" signs. Meanwhile the dozen riders were panic-stricken and dispersed hurriedly when the trolley finally came safely to the end of the line.
A policeman who witnessed the dash took Linn into custody on the car's return trip.

Night School In Ellwood To Open On September 14

Registration To Start On Sept. 9 And 11 At Lincoln High School

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 5.—Registration for the seventh term of the Ellwood City Night School will be held in the Lincoln High School building, September 9 and 11, between the hours of 7:00 to 9:00 P. M. Regular classes will begin Monday evening, September 14, at 7:00, meeting every Monday and Thursday evening for thirty weeks.

This announcement will be quite pleasing to the many people who have come to look upon night school as a valuable part of their life. To the three hundred or more people who registered last year it means that once again they will have the opportunity to do the things they enjoy doing and to derive benefit from their efforts. To some it means furthering their education along commercial lines, to others it means a chance to indulge in healthy supervised exercises, to others it means recapturing the thrill in making something with their own hands but for everyone it means spending leisure time advantageously. The hours spent in night school are surely happy hours.

Ellwood City in becoming night school conscious has learned that education does not necessarily stop when one graduate from grade school, high school, or college, but it can continue on through life helping one to have a healthier, happier, and more useful existence.

It is no longer necessary to waste time wishing you had not quit school when you did because Ellwood City Night School offers to everyone that education you turned down "way back when." And even though you feel you have enough of "book learning" night school might help you to find yourself.

Ellwood City Night School has established itself in our community. Its aim is to help the citizens of Ellwood City in every way possible to live a fuller and a richer life. It wants your suggestions, it welcomes your advice and needs your cooperation. Additional information regarding night school will appear in subsequent issues of this paper. Watch for them.

National League Race Interesting

Giants Have Edge, Cubs And Cardinals Are Trying To Catch Up To Terrymen

Schedule Favors Giants Who Will Finish Season At Home In Polo Grounds

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor
NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—As the fellow said when he got a hair cut, it won't be long now.
It was to begin today with a double header between the New York Giants and Boston Bees in the sympathetic atmosphere of the Polo grounds. The end, for the St. Louis Cardinals, four games in arrears, and perforce the Chicago Cubs, will come by tomorrow a week and possibly before. It is the telltale of the entire twenty six that make up the National League schedule. What has gone before is just preliminary parrying. This is to be the coup de grace, the knockout and, by this time, a lot of people suspect who's going to be knocked.

Giants About In
It is not good taste to go out there limb-sitting in baseball, but who am I to argue with destiny? Even the schedule has conspired to send the Giants into the 1936 pennant and world series. By the looks of things, they can just about turn around and back in.

Anyhow, the week starting today and ending next Sunday will settle all that, with the Giants playing twelve games and the Cardinals thirteen. The former will play four double headers, the latter no less than five—with a pitching staff that looks like the wind up of a clam-bake.

The Cards start the two-in-one program at Cincinnati tomorrow and follow with two more in Pittsburgh the following day.
At the end of next week, they're to play three double headers in a row from Friday to Sunday with the Dodgers and Giants. Few clubs can qualify for a pitching assignment like that, with the Cardinals positively comical.

All that they can do is start a series with that guy Dean and finish with a petition.

Cubs Have Chance
The Giants and Cards, by the way, each have twenty six to play, with the former starting their last home stand this afternoon. That's where they'll play fifteen of the twenty six and, while they have been very good everywhere for the last month and a half, at home they're tougher than a month in jail. Their double headers, for which they are well endowed with pitching, are with the Bees, Phillies, Cincinnati and St. Louis. They've won twenty five out of thirty three from the first two this year and ought to be a cinch. And by the time the Cards get here at the close of the week, they probably won't be feeling so rugged.

Of course, the Cubs might figure to profit during the general excitement but it happens that they only have twenty four games left at a time when they need more instead of less than the others and, besides, the Cubs are in an unfortunate position. They might expect one rival to blow; they can't look for both to do it.

Nor can either Cubs or Cards do much about it personally, since the former play the Giants only twice and the Cards three times. So all they can do is sit down and wait—and, as I say, it won't be long.

Two Ex-Champs On Mat Card

Ali Baba And Steve Banaski Each Have Held Title

FIRST WRESTLING SHOW ON LABOR DAY

For the first time in the history of this city a wrestling show will be held Labor Day, the principals being Ali Baba, the ex-champion heavyweight, and Walter Podolak of Syracuse, N. Y.

Podolak has wrestled here several times and has a following. The ex-champion will be making his first appearance and no doubt the Arena Gardens, Neshannock avenue, will be crowded when the first bell rings.

When Dick Shikat tossed Danno O'Mahoney for the crown there were yells of "cross ups" from different sections. Shikat didn't wear the crown long because Ali Baba took the title from him.

Just when Ali Baba imagined he was occupying a pleasant place in wrestlingdom Everett Marshall came along, threw Ali Baba and today Ali Baba yearns for another chance to win back his crown.

To obtain this chance he must score wins and no doubt there will be plenty of action when they grapple. Shikat holds in the fourth and main bout Monday.

In other bouts Bad Boy Brown will oppose Tony Marchoni, Stanley Buresa will grapple with Steve Banaski, ex-light heavyweight champion, and Eddie Conley will meet Pete Kosar.

The first bout will start at 8:30 p. m. in the hall formerly known as the Old Army and The Gardens. It has been fitted up with 600 comfortable seats and bleachers which will accommodate 600 more fans.

According to the promoter, the calendar is one of the best that could have been arranged for this city and this plus the facts the show contains two ex-champions and is indoors, a capacity crowd is anticipated.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Boxing boom days here were recalled by the large crowd at Youngstown, Thursday evening. Figures who participated directly and indirectly in bouts here were seen in different parts of the open air arena. Rolly-poly Walter Taylor, of Cleveland hobbled here and there and Phil Goldstein who fought here spoke his piece about Al Quail. Jules Beck, partly bald-headed talked matches to different managers and a second in a corner remarked when a was annoyed him: "Jimmie Dunn says you can't beat 'em if you don't hit 'em." Eddie Simms looked in fine condition, when he stood in the ring challenging the winner of the Haynes-Trammel scrap. Alex Zirin the Cleveland writer blew cigar smoke while he telegraphed his story and Frank Ward, the scribe for Youngstown watched both figures intently then assaulted his typewriter getting out copy. Si Lyman, of Sharon said there would be a good auto race Monday while jolting down blows. White of the Warren newspaper sought his seat which was appropriated by someone else. He finally got it. Some of the boys hunted around for Bill Jolly but he was not at the scrap. Al Zill, the promoter, strolled happily through the crowd, a flower in the lapel of his coat. Pete Moran, of Philadelphia, matchmaker for Guinness and Taylor of Philadelphia and handler of Hayes is a little bald but is spry second. Johnny McCoy and Bernie Hanlon, another good fight fan were present. Jimmie Dime looked 'em over and yearned for a good big heavyweight. Jim Buchanan, manager of Wee Willie Davies in the days when Wee Willie was only a jab behind Midget Wolgast is one of the men who claims he is Trammel's manager. Buchanan was the referee. Frank Evans, corner and Ray Fouts, manager of Teddy Yarosz, also handled a preliminary boy. These boys were well handled. One of the Pittsburgh boys who came here often predicted that Haynes and Trammel would box a return go at Washington, D. C. One thing sure is that Jack will receive an offer from Philadelphia where only Al Ettore has defeated Haynes. Al Ettore, Frank Evans, Frank Nugent, Pete Askounes, and the firm of (Jim) Dygert and (Roy) Smith were also there. Bill Chill, former local baseball catcher, strolled through the arena, looking the picture of health and prosperity. Tom Bannan, a figure of long standing in Youngstown fight ranks was a ticket collector. Jimmie Jones, Johnny Corbett and Tony Zill at ex-fighters were the referees. Lester Biederman, Pittsburgh, writer was another around the press table. Bebe Biondi, local deputy for the boxing commission was a ringsider, likewise Adolf Lang the Butcher Boy. All those spoken to believe boxing receipts are on the upward trend.

Dorothy May Sutton Bundy, 20, daughter of May Sutton, who won the title in 1904, yesterday at Forest Hills, eliminated Mrs. Sarah Paley Fabyan, of Cambridge, Mass., second ranking player in the country from the national women's tennis singles championship.

Orville White, 27, Overland, Mo., professional held a four stroke lead at the halfway mark of the $5,000 Hershey open tourney yesterday as he added a sub-par 71 to his previous 68 or 139. Al Espinosa, Akron, and Harry Cooper, Chicago, tied for second with 143.

Firemen Lose At Hillsville

Witherow Allows But Two Hits As Firemen Lose 2 To 1 In Fast Game

PEPE ALLOWS BUT FOUR HITS

Sixth Ward Firemen traveled to Hillsville last night and were defeated by the slender margin of 2-1. It was a pitcher's battle throughout the seven inning contest. Dick Witherow hurled for the Firemen and Pepe hurled for Hillsville.

Witherow for the Firemen, hurled a steady game, allowing the county leaguers but two scattered hits which counted for two runs. The Hillsville boys took advantage of a Firemen error in the first inning along with a single to score two runs which scored enough to prove the margin of victory. For Hillsville Pepe hurled a fine game, allowing the Firemen but four scattered hits which accounted for one lone tally. He fanned a total of six men.

Ryantown And Firemen Will Battle Sunday

Fifth And Deciding Game Of Current Hot Series At Lee Avenue Field

West Side baseball fans by the hundreds will flock to the Lee Avenue Field on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The big day has finally arrived. The fifth and deciding game of the current West Side championship series between the Firemen and Ryantown will be played.

No other section of this fair city takes its baseball any more serious than the folks up in the Sixth Ward and with their two favorite teams tussling for the ward title, the fans will no doubt pack the Lee Avenue Field to capacity.

Fitchers Ready

Manager Joe Ziegler was undecided today just who to send upon the firing line for the Fire Extinguishers, but it will either be "Shorty" Thornton or Dick Withers, with Peck Huston also available. Thornton will more than likely get the assignment as Withers pitched last night at Hillsville.

The Ryantown team has Van Eman, Strausbaugh, or Carey ready for mound duty, with a possibility that it may be Hill who has pitched several fine games lately. In any event the game will no doubt be one of those die-hard battles.

Expect Big Crowd

The impending game was the chief topic of conversation on the hill today. The Firemen are confident of taking the fifth game, and Manager Joe Samuels is just as confident that the Ryantownians can put the fires of ambition out just as good as the firemen.

Standing room at Lee Avenue will be at a premium tomorrow, was the way Frank Heasley, put it, and they are all coming to the game to see the Ryantown boys tame the Fire-Eaters, of course the Firemen may have other viewpoints on this important business.

Newport Team Here On Monday

Ryantown baseball team will play the Newport baseball team at the Ryantown field on Monday (Labor Day) it was announced today. The game will start at 3 o'clock.

This will be the only game in the city on Labor Day and should draw a big crowd to the Ryantown ball lot.

National Youth Administration Aids Henry Home

Twenty Girls From Rolls Of N. Y. A. Here Assist With Duties At Home

Twenty-one girls from the National Youth Administration rolls in New Castle have been assisting to make the burdens of the Margaret Henry Home lighter this summer, assisting the home management, which along with other institutions has suffered through reduced appropriations from the state.

A schedule has been worked out whereby the girls have been divided into groups, some of them assuming the lighter housework duties, and others have taken over the outdoor and recreation programs.

The duties inside the home consist of sewing and mending. New garments have been provided for the children in the home by this method.

Repair All Steps, Postmaster Urges

All of the marble treads of the stairways inside both entrances at the Federal building will be replaced and not just the damaged steps, if Postmaster Richard A. Steen's request to Washington today is approved.

Bids were recently called for replacing the damaged treads, but now the postmaster feels all the steps should get attention.

While treads at the entrance on the South Jefferson street side have chipped off in several places, the treads of the Washington street entrance show signs of cracking.

Declaring that "the job should be done right when it is done," Postmaster Steen has asked Washington authorities to permit him to call for new bids for the entire job.

Wins Europe's Praises

Jean Tennyson (above), beautiful American opera singer, proved the sensation of the Budapest opera season this summer. The Hungarian capital is considered the most exciting in Europe, and both Galli-Curci and Grace Moore failed to win applause there. Miss Tennyson sang with the Chicago Opera last winter. (Central Press)

On Court House Hill

An appeal from the decision of Alderman O. J. P. Green has been filed at the prothonotary's office in the case of W. H. Oesterling against J. E. and Barbara T. Oesterling. The suit was over wages, and the alderman gave the plaintiff judgment for $293.34. An appeal has also been filed in the case of H. M. Oesterling against the same defendants in which a verdict for the plaintiff was rendered in the sum of $234.95.

A certiorari to the court of Justice of the Peace S. Y. Douds of Ellwood City, has been issued in the case of Stella Gallagher against Percy Weaver and Mrs. Percy (Alice) Weaver.

Work was started this week on the improvement of the Potter Run road in Washington township. The road extends from the East Brook-Volant road, near Volant east to the Perry highway. Releases of damages were obtained by the county commissioners early last spring, but the road was taken off the list to be improved. Recently those interested have had it put back on.

Prothonotary John A. Edgar was smiling all over his face today as he unceremoniously filed a batch of metal filing cases which the county commissioners have purchased for his office. Every filing case in the office has long since been filled and it has been necessary to pile books on shelves and counters. The new filing cases will help to take care of a situation that has long been a source of worry. The cases are being installed along the wall to the left of the entrance, the only available space not now covered by shelving. The space, heretofore has been occupied by books on which applicants for marriage licenses parked while waiting their turn.

Street lists, containing the names of registered voters, will not be issued until after October 3, according to Registration Clerk, Thomas Edmunds. This is or the reason that the registration books will be open to new registrants until that time. The chief advantage of the street lists is to the politicians. They contain the name, street number and politics of all the registered voters. Formerly the politicians had to prepare their own list from the poll books. This cost them money, so they had a law passed under which the cost is charged to the taxpayers. The average voter doesn't have any use for a street list set of dumb bells but he is plucked for it just the same.

DIES AFTER LYING SIX DAYS IN COMA
ERIE, Pa., Sept. 5.—Frank Ramek, 29, of Edinboro, died Friday after lying unconscious six days. The motorcycle he was riding crashed into a pole last Saturday, and he had been in a hospital since.

(Copyright, 1936, by Central Press Assn.)
NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—"I want to warn you. He's a hard man to interview. He's very shy. He doesn't like to talk about himself and you may find it—well, difficult."

It was the press agent for "The White Horse Inn" speaking. "The White Horse Inn," as you may have heard, is the quarter-million-dollar musical extravaganza now in rehearsal on the capacious stage of the Center Theater. I had expressed a desire to chat with Laurence Rivers, real name Rowland Stebbins, who was the producer of this wondrous kind.

The date was made and I bearded Mr. Stebbins in a large, sunny office on the fourteenth floor in the midtown district. Not only was he quiet, courteous and amiable and a very easy man to interview, but he became almost jovial before our chat was over.

Perhaps some of my colleagues of the gazettes have been so surprised when they didn't find Mr. Stebbins in the Broadway producing tradition; you know, derby on the side of the head, voice in gutturals, cigar between teeth—that they weren't able to make themselves intelligible.

For Rowland Stebbins, who faintly resembles Lionel Barrymore, is a gentleman of culture and poise who studied to be an engineer at the Columbia School of Mines and at Union College in Schenectady. Later he worked for various electrical companies.

All his life he had wanted to produce musical plays because of his interest in music, and so, about thirty years ago, he commenced to creep up on his ambition in a very strange way. He borrowed $76,000 to buy himself something he had had his eye on for some time, a seat on the New York Stock Exchange.

In due course he made back enough to pay off his debt and to have a few hundred thousand in pocket to play around in the theater. At present he spends one day a week in Wall Street and the rest of his time in his play-producing suite.

What sets Rowland Stebbins off from the other Wall Streeters who have bitten themselves off pieces of plays in the last few years is that he has been successful at it. And although some of his shows have failed they have one and all displayed excellencies of one kind or another.

Of course, out of "The Green Pastures" alone he made enough to compensate for a number of flops. "I had no idea 'Pastures' would succeed. I liked the music in it and so I produced it. I'm more interested in music than in the drama, I think after all."

But the theater has left its mark upon him in various subtle ways. For instance on his desk a small ivory elephant stares fixedly at a large white papier mache horse. That's for luck in his "White Horse Inn" venture. Edward Johnson contributed the elephant.

"Since 'The Green Pastures,' he said, 'we've been flooded with negro plays. For months we got almost nothing else, nearly three hundred of them in a year. But 'Pastures' was unique and anything else now would be anti-climax in that line."

"Why," I asked with customary attention to silly detail, "did you choose the name Laurence Rivers?"

"Oh, I thought up several names but found out all the good ones had been used by other producers. So I took the name of a detective in a mystery play I read as a boy."

A financier with a family and social connections who goes into the play-producing business seriously confronts certain trade risks. For example, he soon discovers that most of the sons and daughters of family friends want to go on the stage, as do the friends of friends of friends. Those who do not want to go on the stage want to write plays.

"But you develop a technique in dealing with them after a few years," he declared mildly.

"What do you do?"

"I give them letters to other producers."
